On Thursday 10th November 2016 you were on board a route 177 bus, garage code 308 with the intention of travelling from PECKHAM to NEW CROSS a normal adult fare of £2.40. During the course of this journey at about 7:48 AM you offered for the inspection of London Bus Inspector LB004192 a £3.60 SINGLE Pay as you go pass in oystercard format, serial number 0287573061, which had been issued to another person on terms that it was not transferable and was therefore not valid for travel by you. This statement is compiled from original notes made at 15:11 on 7 Nov 2016. On Monday 7th November 2016 at 14:48 PM I was on duty in uniform platform entrance of EALING BROADWAY station when I ticket checked a passenger who had recently passed through the ticket gates. The female passenger, who I now know to be Miss Deborah Jensen of 31 Ruislip Road East, Greenford, London, W13 0AZ, said she was taking a journey from EALING BROADWAY to EAST ACTON a fare of £1.50. Miss Jensen offered for inspection a DISABLED PERSONS FREEDOM PASS, serial number 13692341. I sealed this in evidence bag 24878 marked exhibit LO/1, which I now offer in evidence. I said to Miss Jensen "is this the ticket you are using for your journey?". She said "Yes". I said, "Do you have the photocard for this pass? These passes are not transferrable.". She said "Oh, this must be my partner's pass, they must have got mixed up somehow. I'm really sorry, I'll leave the station and get the right one.". I asked her for her name and address, which she gave as Miss Deborah Jensen, 31 Ruislip Road East, Greenford, London, W13 0AZ. These details were verified by voters check. I said "I am withdrawing this ticket and I will be submitting a report to the Transport For London Prosecutions Team for their consideration. She said "This is really unfair, I've done nothing wrong and I'm caring for a disabled person, I can't afford a fine."
